Visit To The South

Walter Hobbs, Formerly of Norway,
Writes from North Carolina

We came to Salisbury two weeks ago and are stationed there for the present. We left Salisbury at midnight, Saturday to be in Winston-Salem to witness the funeral of the late Mrs. H. H. Hobbs, which started at 2 a. m. This is an annual affair which I intended attending when I was in High Point two years ago but as I missed it then, I thought I wouldn't this year when within 37 miles of it. I may not have so good an opportunity again.

There were 8 brass bands playing antiphonally from different hills and at the close of the ceremony in the grave yard, they all massed together and played on the way to the church. This affair is attended by people all over the state and the paper states that it is estimated there were 51,000 there. The ceremony at the grave yard (they say graveyard instead of cemetery) at sun-up; there were loud speakers and the speaker could be distinctly heard all over the place.

The graves were raised mounds about six inches and nearly a foot apart, perfectly laid out and all decorated. On each mound was a tablet laid on the head of the grave, the tablets I would say were about 18x14 inches, three inches thick and read from the front of the grave. After it was all over we came to Greensboro, 35 miles (about) to breakfast. I went to the Presbyterian church, where I sang when here, called around to the choir room and was pressed into the service as there were many who were in the choir two years ago and remembered me. In fact I was very cordially received and they all appeared to appreciate my help to the choir. I had rehearsed previously. Among others was Lawrence Merrill, son of Harry Merrill, who is in the choir.

James L. Russell, a former resident of East Stoneham passed away of heart trouble in Oxnard, California on April 2nd. He had been ill for a week but was not confined to his bed until two days before his death which came peacefully. He has been connected with the Oxnard public library as janitor for several years. Mr. Russell has been a resident of Oxnard for 17 years. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge, also of the Washington lodge of Boston. He was survived by two sons, Walter, of Oakland, Cal. and Llewellyn of Bethel, Me., three sisters, Mrs. Ida Weeks of Sebastopol, Cal., Mrs. Clara Crawford of Glendale, Cal., and Mrs. Emma Carpenter with whom he made his home in Oxnard.

The funeral services were held on Thursday, April 4th, from the chapel in charge of the Oxnard I. O. O. F. Rev. Gage of Los Angeles and Rev. Rollins of the Baptist church officiated. The services were attended by the many friends of the deceased. North Carolina went for Hoover and I've had a chance to congratulate several who normally vote the Democratic ticket on the glorious showing of North Carolina. One man, particularly, who prophesied Smith's nomination and who had figured out by states that he would be elected, but he wouldn't vote for him, shook hands with me over the results yesterday and was joyful over it.

You know the people of the South are a warm hearted lot, there isn't that cold formality there is in the North. (Back in Salisbury, April 2nd.) We had a good trip home. Stopped in High Point where we worked a month in 1927, called on two people we sold and found them very enthusiastic over the "Lincoln Library." We don't expect orders from everybody though we sell some of the largest institutions in the country. Norway has just paid for her book and I'll warrant will be pleased with it.

I suppose Spring is beginning to appear in Maine but just imagine stepping in here just now with the trees nearly fully leaved out with fruit trees and flowers in full bloom, just above us on this street is a wisteria vine which runs all over a big tree covered with blossoms, the birds are singing and the place has the appearance of early June in New England. I could write much more but will stop here and write a few lines about myself. I have escaped the flu which was reported so abundant in the Carolinas that some thought I was venturing considerably to come here, but the fact is that after coming the papers here reported more of it in the North and from your letters I judge it was so.

CLOTHING SALE

WENT BIG

Say! I have a grist of stuff besides wearables. Something different every week, for my goods move right along and you can always find mighty good trades at my place. Low prices have landed Old Hard-Times a knockout, and roads are drying out, so come along.

(Back in Salisbury, April 2nd.) We had a good trip home. Stopped in High Point where we worked a month in 1927, called on two people we sold and found them very enthusiastic over the "Lincoln Library."

We don't expect orders from everybody though we sell some of the largest institutions in the country. Norway has just paid for her book and I'll warrant will be pleased with it.

I suppose Spring is beginning to appear in Maine but just imagine stepping in here just now with the trees nearly fully leaved out with fruit trees and flowers in full bloom, just above us on this street is a wisteria vine which runs all over a big tree covered with blossoms, the birds are singing and the place has the appearance of early June in New England.

I could write much more but will stop here and write a few lines about myself. I have escaped the flu which was reported so abundant in the Carolinas that some thought I was venturing considerably to come here, but the fact is that after coming the papers here reported more of it in the North and from your letters I judge it was so.

CLOTHING SALE

WENT BIG

Say! I have a grist of stuff besides wearables. Something different every week, for my goods move right along and you can always find mighty good trades at my place. Low prices have landed Old Hard-Times a knockout, and roads are drying out, so come along.

Public Men I Have Known

No. 15, by C. F. Whitman

George M. Atwood—Arthur E. Forbes

When I was old enough to be trusted to go to Buckfield Village with an older brother from the farm, there were several Atwoods in trade there. And sturdy old Uncle Ephraim, the Nestor of them all, traded in the store on the corner formed by the Hebron and Paris Hill roads.

How patient he was with us timid youngsters. I can remember now, as distinctly as some seventy years ago, his nasal tones, as he would inquire, "What say, boys?" One of his sons, Asa, is still living in Buckfield, the oldest man in town.

He will be 95 on the 28th day of May. Dea. Wm. H. Atwood, the father of George M. with Benjamin Spaulding later had the best up-to-date store in the village. I first knew him as the superintendent of the Sunday school in summer, in a grove near our old school house. He was a polished and cultivated gentleman. His two sons, Kimball C. and George M. Atwood are financiers of merit. The older brother is a millionaire and the younger one couldn't be a finer specimen of manhood—business and otherwise if he was worth a billion dollars. I never intimately knew him, but a Spaulding who wasn't pure gold, so to speak. As I write this I have particularly in mind, George M. Atwood of Paris and Atwood W. Spaulding of Carleton. If there are any out there who either of them I am not aware of it.

I first saw George M. Atwood at the graduation of his class at Hebron Academy. Miss Anna Harlow, the smart and attractive little daughter of lawyer, E. L. Harlow of Dixfield, who later became Mrs. George M. Atwood, was a member of the same class I believe.

Perhaps the fact that George was a Buckfield boy might have colored somewhat my report for the local paper in what I wrote about him, but I don't think so, for I then as always had an independent way of expressing exactly what I felt.

I remember to this day the fine impression the young man made and I was as certain then in my own mind as I have since been, that it was sure to accomplish something for himself which would be worth while.

George M. Atwood was educated as a lawyer and was admitted to the bar at the October term 1885 of the Supreme Judicial Court when he was exactly twenty-five years old. He did not begin the practice of his profession, but instead with Arthur E. Forbes took over publishing the Oxford Democrat and settled permanently on Paris Hill. The next year he married and in 1888 was elected county treasurer, an office he held for twenty-eight years. In 1900 he was chosen secretary and treasurer of the So. Paris Savings Bank, a position he still holds. He was one of the promoters of the Paris Trust Company, organized in 1908, and is one of its directors. He sold his interest in the Oxford Democrat some time ago to Fred W. Sanborn and has since devoted his time to financial affairs and his own house on Paris Hill.

It was as county treasurer that I came in close touch with him while I was serving as clerk of the courts. No one could have performed the duties of that office better or more efficiently. He desired to see all our offices conducted economically—and free from waste and extravagance. With the county commissioners, the clerk and the treasurer there was the greatest harmony in this respect and it can be said without question, that the financial condition of the county during that period was at its best. George M. Atwood was so well appreciated as county treasurer that no one in his own party nor outside of the party, unless it was split wide open could have displaced him as long as he cared for the office. He was appreciated by any other official and I know that he thoroughly appreciated the work I did with Alfred Cole in getting out the History of Buckfield. His commendation counted big. For real wit no one I ever knew except perhaps David Dunn excelled him. Next to him as a humorist in this county I think was Col. Albert S. Austin.

I hadn't seen George M. Atwood for a long period, when a short time ago I called one day at the South Paris Savings Bank. To my disappointment, I found that he was away, but there was a very smart and charming lady in charge of the bank. She knew me, and I had a hazy recollection that I had seen her when she was younger, though not more prepossessing. I felt certain that she originated over east of Streaked Mountain, and Buckfield girls and boys have always had a little warmer place in my regard than others, but after all as old Uncle Roland Foster used to say, "Um darn it. It makes a difference who 'tis."

Arthur E. Forbes, editor, general manager and half owner of the Oxford Democrat printing establishment plant was born near Paris Hill, May 30, 1862. Patrick Henry made May 30th, illustrious on that day in 1765 he set the hall of the Revolution ringing, when in the course of his great harangue against the "Stamp Act" he shouted: "Caesar had his Brutus; Charles the First had his Cromwell; and George the Third, may profit by their example. If that be treason, make the most of it." The day is now observed as Memorial Day.

Arthur E. Forbes was educated in the public schools of Paris and at St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y. His father, Dea. Elbridge Forbes, a prosperous farmer of Paris was at one time a printer from which it might be presumed his son came to take up printing as a life work. Through his father he can trace a line of ancestry, to Capt. Miles Standish—"the saint and savior" of the Pilgrims. Captain Standish was never a member of the Pilgrim church society but as he was baptized when an infant in the English church faith, and as a military leader was needed by the Pilgrim leaders, they preferring him to the grim Capt. John Smith, his religious faith was never called in question by them. This was wise for Smith would have sought to control him but Captain Standish did nothing of the kind.

By his mother Angeline (Thayer) Forbes, the Oxford Democrat editor is the great-grandson of Lt. Gen. Thayer, the Revolutionary soldier, who was in the battle of Trenton, one of Washington's famous victories.

Arthur E. Forbes learned the printer's trade in the Oxford Democrat establishment and was promoted to be foreman of the office.

In 1885, with George M. Atwood, he became one of the proprietors of this weekly paper which he is likely to be connected with the rest of his life. Several years ago, he married one of his compositors, but they have no children. Mr. Forbes is a member of the legislature some years ago when he got the act passed and signed by the Governor, to pay the printers of "History of Norway," the sum of five hundred dollars for one hundred copies of the book. Of course he didn't ask any remuneration for what he did—for he isn't that kind of a man—but I did and do think that "he should have been presented with a copy of the book."

Some men are so busy bringing things that they have no time to finish anything. A pretty girl likes to be told she's intelligent and an intelligent girl likes to be told she's pretty.

REDDING AND SHAGG POND MILL Started—Andrews Improving School Re-opened.

Twenty-two inches of snow fell in this district, Friday and Saturday. Redding Bros. mill started the 12th, with half a crew, including Will and George Redding, Harlan Redding, Dell Rowe, Merton Rowe, Ed. Cole and Raymond Rowe.

Wallace Andrews, who was ill with an attack of appendicitis, is likely to be much improved and able to be about. Dr. Kay of West Paris is in this vicinity last week and found the traveling rather difficult.

George Record of Buckfield was in Redding this week on business. School re-opens Monday morning as Mrs. Redding the teacher has recovered from her illness.

John Redding made a business trip to Rumford Corner, recently. Harlan Redding sold a valuable cow to Enos Farm.

Lorenzo Littlehale of East Sumner was in Redding on business, last week. Penley Bros mill was shut down Friday on account of the bad storm.

A manœuvre artist who could also polish men's brains would fill a long felt want.

SOUTH WATERFORD

Bells Returned Home—Mrs. Meserve Underwent Operation—Grange Notes—Bertha Kimball in Speaking Contest.

Monday, Mrs. Fannie Green and her mother, Mrs. Taylor, and Ada Curtis met with Mrs. Alice Bell and Ethel Monroe, and finished the six sofa cushions the Community Club have quilted for the summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Coleman and son, Robert, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Marr.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving E. Bell returned to their home on Blackguard on Thursday morning. The winter has passed very pleasantly for both the Bells and the Monroes.

Mrs. Ella Meserve of Hallowell is in a hospital in Waterville and has undergone two operations on her eyes. First, the small veins in the corner of her eyes were removed, and on Friday, April 12, she had the cataracts removed. It is hoped that she is to make a good recovery.

Mrs. Meserve is Mrs. Will Marr's mother and is a lady 83 years old, so it is quite an operation for so old a lady.

Tuesday, officers of the Community Club met at the home of Mrs. W. K. Hamlin to sew for Mrs. Grace Pike and family. Mrs. Ardelle Kimball was in charge. All prepared work was finished or nearly so when the afternoon closed.

Wednesday at 6:30, Mrs. Alice Bell and Ethel M. Monroe served a fine supper to a large crowd. The picture, "Butterfly's" starring Jackie Coogan, was featured, and the following reels of the Western Canyons were beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Merrill's household goods arrived on Sunday and they will soon be at home in the Hapgood house. The bridge party to have been held at Mrs. Collins' on Friday evening was postponed until Tuesday, owing to the bad storm.

Winter returned in earnest on Friday and Saturday, when there was a fall of 14 inches of snow. The worst storm for the winter.

Arthur Kingman, with his helpers, Leon York and Carl Heath, put asphalt roofing on the west side of the creamery this past week.

Mrs. Minnie Gullow and James Merryfield of Troy, N. H., were guests of Mrs. Gullow's brother, Frank E. Billings, the latter part of last week. They motored to Bridgton and Mr. Billings drove to Bridgton for them, taking them back on Friday, in the storm. Mrs. Gullow went to Boston, Mass., for a two weeks stay the first of the week.

There has been great hustling at Marr's mill since the arrival of the snow, getting the timber in for the new church and Community House at the Flat.

Mrs. Eugenia Collins is helping Florence Nelson with her spring cleaning. Grange meeting to have been held on Saturday was again postponed. The next meeting, on April 20, is to be held in the evening. A good program is in preparation to be followed by a social. The program committee: Mrs. Eugenia Collins, Clara Hamlin, Helen Rice, Mrs. L. R. Muller, Henry S. Haynes, Dorothy Holden, Jennie Sanderson, Percy Kimball, Wilson Moore. Question: "Do Modern Inventions Increase Human Happiness?" opened by Clara J. Hamlin.

Mrs. Marion Fox spent several days with her daughter, Mrs. Ardelle Kimball, the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Alfred Merrill spent the week and in Bethel, overseeing the packing of her household goods.

Bertha Kimball, who won 1st prize in the prize speaking at Bridgton Academy, spoke in Y. M. C. A. contest held in the Deering High School in Woodford on Friday evening. Bertha spent the week and in Bridgton.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE

WHEREAS Gertrude D. Hammond and Charles H. Hammond, both of Paris, in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, have been granted a mortgage deed dated the tenth day of October, 1928, and recorded in the Oxford Registry of Deeds, Book 390, Page 49, conveyed to me, the undersigned, a certain lot or parcel of land situated in said Paris and being their homestead farm, known as the former home of Henry D. Hammond, including the parcel of land lying on the westerly side of the road leading from Paris to Hebron, the main parcel being on the easterly side of said road; also one other lot of land conveyed by Sumner E. Newell to J. D. O'Brien, dated and recorded in the Oxford Registry of Deeds, Book 270, Page 430, this parcel being known as the "O'Brien pasture." Also one other lot of land premises conveyed by Fred J. Cotton to H. D. Hammond by dated Deed December 6, 1911, and recorded in the Oxford Registry, Book 317, Page 481. This last parcel being known as the "O'Brien lot." The last two parcels adjoining each other and are connected.

And whereas the conditions of said mortgage have been broken, now therefore, by reason of the breach of the conditions thereof I claim a foreclosure of said mortgage.

Some of the on and around automobiles during the recent April snow storm was a familiar sight. Cars were stuck almost anywhere and everywhere. The cold weather following the storm proved to be a real spell but helped out the snow makers.

Question for Discussion

Special Town Meetings and the Rescinding of Votes

As was noted in a recent issue of the Advertiser, a special town meeting was held in an Oxford County town and a sum of over two thousand dollars was raised to build a certain piece of road and thereby hangs a tale.

This matter was the principal one at the regular town meeting and was fully discussed and a small sum voted. At the close of the meeting the proponents of the road moved for a reconsideration which after a lengthy discussion was voted down. The property owners, while wanting the road, felt that they could not afford it this year and that it was not for the interest of the town to do so. For several years the tax rate has been $50.00 or over on the thousand and last year over $60. This is proving disastrous to the town as shown by the abandoned farms. The cutting of unripe timber and the live stock (dogs excepted) has dropped to the lowest point in years, lots of good upland hay not being cut last year.

It seems useless to raise money for public utility when maintaining a tax rate of over $60 on the thousand.

Immediately after the annual meeting a petition was filed for a special meeting. On this petition there were the names of only two, possibly three, that pay a property tax of any amount, and nearly all are men that put in the summer working on the roads. The meeting was held March 20, when the road was half deep and almost impassable. There was a small attendance, about half as many as at the regular meeting and the money was voted by a small margin, which is clearly contrary to the sentiments of the majority of the voters in town. I clearly understand that it is sometimes necessary to call a special town meeting to meet an emergency. But to call one and render futile the action of the regular meeting is decidedly wrong and threatens our entire form of government of which we have been so proud.

I would like the opinion of others on this matter.

COUNTY FAIR ACTS BOOKED

W. O. Frothingham, secretary of Oxford County Agricultural Society, has signed a contract with Wirth & Hamill, Inc., of New York City for a program of headline vaudeville acts to appear as free attractions three afternoons and two evenings during Oxford County fair next September. Acts are as follows:

Five Casting Campbells, America's Premier Flyers and exponents of the most difficult midair performances. They work on the tallest rigging featured by any aerialists in a similar act and will present some hair raising stunts. One member accomplishes a full twisting double somersault in midair.

The Honey Troup of six people will present difficult acrobatic feats, using a unique apparatus much like the familiar teeter board from which the performers are catapulted into single, double and triple somersaults. This act was imported several years ago and has appeared in all the largest circuses and vaudeville theatres.

Millie Goldie, Queen of the Silver Wire, is the last word in delicate posing and balancing on a slender thread. She is said to be the first to accomplish "The Charleston" on so deceptive support.

The Bouncing Bed Competition will be presented for laughing purposes. Contestants may try athletic stunts on a trampoline landing net in efforts to reproduce stunts given by the performers.

MAKING A SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE

The recent notice of the passing of Col. E. Lester Jones of Washington, D. C., brings to mind his extensive real estate holdings in Stoneham.

Col. Jones came here some 30 years ago with his father from Culpepper, Va., to enjoy a vacation. They stopped at the Lakeside, when managed by A. W. Thom and indulged in bass fishing in Norway and adjoining towns. This continued for a number of seasons.

A visit to Stoneham was made in charge of Jas. H. Porter in the hunting season and Mr. Jones had the vision of permanently locating his sporting activities to that town and soon commenced buying land and farms and stocking the lakes with game fish. Along with the wild land purchased he bought several farms. Among these we recall the following:

The Jonathan Bartlett farm.

Dustin McAllister place.

John F. Piles farm.

Austin Warren farm.

George Brown place.

Billie McAllister place.

The Hobbs or Goodwin farm.

The above with the "Thousand Acre" tract of wild land, he or his estate has large holdings in West Stoneham, besides a valuable camp on the shores of Virgin Lake, or as commonly known as Upper Stone Pond.

His annual visits will be greatly missed by all who come in contact with him.

We hope the property can be kept intact and Col. Jones' ideas be carried out.

WEST BUCKFIELD

Club Meeting Held—Miss Phillips at Home—Farmers Taking Advantage of Snow.

The community was surprised, if not pleased, by a heavy fall of snow—nearly two feet, by Saturday night. S. E. Briggs was out breaking roads, Sunday morning.

A good number attended the meeting of the Sewas-wegw Club, held at Mrs. Ralph Cooper's, Friday, April 12th. A good amount of sewing was done, new officers elected and a good time enjoyed.

Several visitors were present and Mrs. Cooper joined the Club.

Miss Aldana Phillips is home from Atlantic City, where she has been doing table work since last fall.

Helen Pearl came home from Hebron, Wednesday. She will return shortly.

Geneva Turner and Marjorie Bennett were home from Buckfield for the week end.

Paul Bennett was home, Thursday, as he has been unable to work all last week, with neuritis in his arm. Harry Buswell drove his team.

The substitute is taking our end of the mail route through the hard travelling. Warren Buck helped saw wood at H. H. Buck's, Thursday.

Paul Bennett has purchased a cow of Hersey Warren.

The farmers are taking advantage of the snow, getting home grain on sleds or doing that job they put off in March.

The birds are resorting to the feeding grounds provided by their boy and girl friends.

Roy Buck is at work for Harry Buck and son.

Oxford County United Parish

Including Albany, North Lovell, East Stoneham and the Waterfalls. Pastoral Staff: Revs. W. I. Bull, B. F. Wentworth, A. C. Townsend

The activities of the Parish have been very much hampered this spring by the condition of the roads. The need of year-round roads in Maine is becoming more manifest every year. Good roads are expensive, but only the best can be afforded.

On account of the storm last Sunday's services were very much disorganized. Mr. Bull held a service at East Stoneham, but all other services in the Parish were cancelled.

Rev. B. F. Wentworth has been attending the Maine Methodist Conference at Bangor during the past week.

The next meeting of the Council will be held at South Waterford, Thursday, May 2. It is expected that Rev. Rodney W. Roudy, the new Congregational State Superintendent, will be present and deliver an address.

Circle supper at North Waterford was announced for Tuesday evening of this week. The president of the Circle, Mrs. George Holt, is soon to move away. The Holt family will be greatly missed in the Parish, and especially at North Waterford.

Better fire protection is being discussed both at Waterford and at North Waterford. It is, perhaps, a case of looking the stable door after the horse has been stolen, but there are other horses to be safeguarded. At North Waterford steps are being taken by the Crooked River Outing Club to include fire protection in their program of activities. At Waterford there will probably be formed the Waterford Fire Society which will purchase some fire engine, such as can be owned and used in a small community.

The Fitzhugh Gaptill engine is the one most highly recommended. This is a gasoline engine, built for rough usage, weighing about 340 pounds, arranged so that it can be drawn by a horse or auto, or carried by men. Several of them are in use by the Forestry Department of Massachusetts in preference to all others.

It's a waste of time to think about all the time you have already wasted.

No One in the World Is EXACTLY Like You

You have your own combination of height, weight, chest measurement and features.

In disposition, even though you are a twin, you are unlike anyone else on earth.

Similarly, your family conditions are unlike those of other men. You know better than anyone else whom you feel in duty bound to remember in your will, what bequests you desire to make and in what manner you want your estate distributed.

Let us help you lay out a plan that will be "tailor made" to your individual needs.

Our experience qualifies us to do this for you, and to act as an efficient and business-like executor under your will.

ROOFINGS

JOHNS-MANVILLE RIGID ASBESTOS SHINGLES

Colors and shapes for every style of Architecture.

Weather will NEVER wear them out.

On new houses or old, J-M Asbestos Shingles are everlasting.

JOHNS-MANVILLE SLATEKOTE SHINGLES

The standard, 4-tab, self-spacing strip shingles, in two sizes and new colors of good taste. A general favorite.

JOHNS-MANVILLE SMOOTH & SLATEKOTE ROLL ROOFINGS

The highest grades of smooth and slate-surfaced roll roofings. Recommended for all steep-roofed buildings. Durable and cheap.

COP-ROY GALVANIZED SHEET METAL ROOFING, Corrugated

This is a Copper Alloy Steel of high quality, which we have sold for years with best results. We have also used this metal in black and galvanized sheets for sheet metal work. It is a soft metal, most adaptable to forming and seaming.

COP-ROY GALVANIZED CHANNEL-DRAIN ROOFING

This is the same Copper-Alloy metal in the popular Channel Drain pattern. It is much preferred by many to the Corrugated style and at about the same cost.
